

The IGWA is excited to share this great event coming to Fort Wayne for Groundwater Awareness Day!

Please use the link to register and forward any questions to dkolath@fele.com.

Save the Date: Groundwater Awareness Day Celebrations Come to Northeast Indiana

Franklin Electric is partnering with the National Groundwater Association's (NGWA) Groundwater Foundation and our local experts to celebrate Groundwater Awareness Day with the public at Fort Wayne's community. Enjoy a day of groundwater discovery and exciting activities to at Science Central on Saturday, March 11.

From 10:00 AM - 4:00 PM, check out the booths, hands-on activities, and our presentation "Make Water Happen" to learn more about the importance of groundwater and the challenges communities face in keeping it clean and bringing it to the surface.

If you're a water well professional, we'd love to see you there! Register online by March 3 and redeem free day admissions for your family or friends, sponsored by Franklin Electric.

--

Groundwater Awareness Day is celebrated in observance of Groundwater Awareness Week, a nationwide effort to bring public attention to the importance of groundwater and the critical work groundwater professionals do daily. Groundwater Awareness Day is one of several initiatives both the National Groundwater Association and Franklin Electric participate in to promote professional opportunities in groundwater and build a pipeline of talent for the future of the industry.